

UNFORGETTABLE OVERNIGHT ADVENTURES START HERE!

Since its start 27 years ago, The Franklin Institute's Camp-In program has provided hundreds of thousands of youngsters with fun-filled overnight adventures. Through Camp-In sleepovers, scientific exploration comes alive for Scouts, school groups and families. Topics may change each year, but the memories of rolling out a sleeping bag and spending a night in the Museum last a lifetime!

EXPLORE THE MUSEUM

Take a 4D Flight Simulator ride

Watch a live demonstration, planetarium show & IMAX film

...And camp next to our favorite exhibits!

FRANKLIN

CLASH OF THE SCIENCES:

BIG VS. SMALL

THE COMPETITION IS ON IN THIS BRAND NEW
CAMP-IN ADVENTURE FOR AGES 6-13!
NOVEMBER 2011-MAY 2012

Spend the night at The Franklin Institute and explore the science behind BIG and small!

Science comes in all shapes and sizes – from the enormous expanses of the solar system to microscopic strands of DNA. But is bigger really better? Or does small win out in the end? Join us to find out! Pick a side and watch the battle unfold between big and small science during an overnight Museum Camp-In.

Your overnight stay includes:

- Interactive live science show – volunteers welcome!
- Hands-on science activities for adults and campers to do together
- Out-of-this world ride on the Adventure Flight 4D Simulator
- Immersive film on the Tuttleman IMAX® Theater's 70-foot tall screen
- Astronomy show in the Fels Planetarium
- Access to all of The Franklin Institute's core exhibits – like Electricity, Sir Isaac's Loft and Sports Challenge (CSI: The Experience available for an additional $2 through December; Great Wall of China not included)
- Rooftop stargazing through our professional telescopes in the Joel N. Bloom Observatory (weather permitting)
- PLUS! Sleeping in our favorite exhibits

Sign up early to secure a spot, and get your sleeping bags ready!

OVERNIGHT ADVENTURES FOR FAMILIES, SCHOOL GROUPS & SCOUTS

CLASH OF THE SCIENCES: BIG VS. SMALL!

Whether you are amazed by 100-story skyscrapers or excited by the possibilities of the tiniest microchips, The Franklin Institute's "Clash of the Sciences" Camp-In is for you! Join us for a competitive night investigating the science of BIG vs. small. You may have experienced the Museum's interactive exhibits and shows during the daytime, but only through Camp-In do families, Scouts and student groups get the chance to explore the Institute after dark. This supersized adventure is available for ages 6-13, with chaperones.

PROGRAMMING FOR SCOUTS

Each Camp-In offers one-of-a-kind opportunities for Scouts and parents to work toward requirements for a variety of achievements. Prepare for your visit with specially designed Scout guides, learn in family workshops during your Museum sleepover and access our online educational resources anytime to continue the hands-on science fun. For more information, visit www.fi.edu/Camp-In/Scouts.
